

FRYATT EXECUTION JUST, SAYS BERLIN

German Admiralty Statement
Declares British Sea Captain a "Hired Murderer."

MUST SUFFER FOR CRIME,
ASQUITH ASSURES HOUSE

Premier Intimates Men High in the Kaiser's Government Will Be Punished.

BERLIN, July 31, via London, August 1.—The execution of Capt. Fryatt is declared to have been "obviously legal and right" in a statement given to the Associated Press today by the German admiralty. The statement is a reply to criticism of the execution made by Viscount Grey, the British foreign minister. It points out that Capt. Fryatt had a professional lawyer to defend him, as the American embassy was informed when it made inquiries at the request of England.

The admiralty holds that England "claims for herself a special code of morals and honor in sea warfare which amounts to a reversal of all reason, because it insists that merchantmen have the right to attack submarines without warning while it refuses to concede the same right to submarines. Germany is unwilling to submit to that code, which amounts to sacrificing the brave and heroic submarine crews to British pirates and franc-tireurs."

Submarine on the Surface.

Viscount Grey's statement says that the admiralty's announcement is consciously designed to mislead the public. Capt. Fryatt was not attempting to force a submarine attack which was made without warning, as the submarine was sailing on the surface and had signaled him to halt, according to the stipulations of international law. Further, he was not trying to save the lives of his crew, for they were not endangered.

On the other hand, Capt. Fryatt allowed the submarine to approach his vessel for the purpose of examining it, and then suddenly and treacherously tried to ram and destroy it, and thus obtain the reward offered by the British government. This was not self-defense, but a treacherous surprise by a hired murderer. He boasted of the deed, which, fortunately, failed in its object.

U-Boat Crew Witnesses.

"Witnesses from the crew of the submarine appeared at the trial and proved the facts in the case. The German court-martial condemned Capt. Fryatt to death because he committed an act of war against Germany without being enlisted in his country's forces. He was not shot in cold blood and with premeditation, as the British government asserts, but was condemned as a franc-tireur after a formal court trial. "As a court-martial on land protects the soldier of the army against murder by bushwhackers by threatening the death penalty, the same military law protects members of the sea forces from murder at sea. Germany will continue in the future to apply this military law in order that submarine crews may not become the prey of bushwhackers at sea."

"Murder," Says Asquith.

LONDON, August 1.—"It appears to be true that Capt. Fryatt was murdered by the Germans," said Premier Asquith in the house of commons yesterday afternoon in reply to a question by Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster unionists.

"The British government," the premier added, "heard with deep indignation of this atrocious crime against the law of nations and usage of war. Coming as it does contemporaneously with the lawless cruelties to the population of Lille and other occupied portions of France, it shows that the German high commands under the stress of military defeat have renewed their policy of terrorism."

"It is impossible to conjecture to what further atrocities they may proceed, but the government desires to repeat most emphatically their resolve when the time comes that these crimes shall not go unpunished."

Guilt in High Places.

"When the time arrives they are determined to bring to justice the criminals, whoever they may be, and whatever their position. In a case such as this the man who devised the system under which the crime was committed may well be the most guilty of all.

"The question of what immediate action should be taken is engaging the earnest attention of the government, and I hope to make an announcement shortly."

Sir Edward Carson suggested that the house should pass a bill making it clear that Great Britain would refuse to admit the German people into the country of the nations until "such crimes are expiated."

Premier Asquith said he would consider the matter.

WAR INSURANCE BUREAU HAS PROFIT OF $2,000,000

Issues 1,539 Policies, Covering
$138,392,389 in American Cargoes,
Since Opening for Business.

The bureau of war risk insurance, established two years ago when the war sent marine insurance rates to a prohibitive point, has made a profit for the government of more than $2,000,000. It has issued 1,539 policies covering $138,392,389 on American cargoes and ships carrying non-contraband goods.

Figures just compiled show that the gross premiums for insurance issued amounted to $2,904,866, on which losses have been $71,829, of which $58,811 was recovered in salvage.

The bureau now has at risk $12,325,198. The bureau will expire by limitations September 2, but Secretary McAdoo has indicated that he will ask Congress to extend its life to the war's close.

"It has been of incalculable benefit to the business of the country," he said; "has afforded insurance where it was unobtainable from other sources, and has reduced war risk insurance rates generally to a reasonable and equitable basis."

ENGINEER LOSES LIFE.

Atlantic Coast Line Trains Collide,
Derailing Locomotive and Tender.
PETERSBURG, Va., August 1.—Atlantic Coast Line passenger train No. 53, southbound, collided with a freight train, which partially blocked the main line at the northern end of the railroad trestle spanning the Appomattox river here last night, and the passenger engine and tender were hurled over a steep embankment at the river's edge. Engineer Trevillian of Richmond was caught beneath his cab and almost instantly killed.

None of the coaches on the passenger train was derailed, and the passengers escaped injury.
